

What??

What do you do when you're lonely?
When you've got nowhere to go?
Sure, you've got family
And lots of friends next door.
But what do you do when you're yearning
For that void in you to be filled?
Do you sit at home alone waiting?
Or go out there, take a chance and maybe get killed?
There's got to be someone to help me
Or something, somewhere I know!
And believe me, for it I've been searching
In and out high and low!
I wait for the day to get over
So the night can claim me fast
Hopefully I search the tomorrow
But it's no different from the last!
Countless times I've given up
And tried to throw my life away.
But for some special reason I've survived,
And here, I've got to stay!
This restlessness inside me
Is hurting other people too!
Special people, who really want to help me
But don't have a clue as to what to do!
I hate myself so often,
But sometimes I'm the best friend I've got!
At times it looks like I'm improving...
But then I fail more often than not!
How can I hope to be something or someone?
When I don't even know who I am!
How can I start to build my future?
When my life seems to have no plan!
Maybe if I just do what I'm supposed to do
I'll reach a solution of some kind
But that means I'll have to live by the rules,
Which all except me, doesn't seem to mind?
Sometimes I think I'm crazy
'Coz what I want - I don't even know.
And it brings us back to the question:
What do you do when you're lonely-?
When you've got nowhere to go!
